PARADE AND FIREWORKS

These and Many Other Good Stunts Are Planned for 4th of July Celebration.

Chairmen of the various 4th of July celebration committees met at the city hall last Monday evening and discussed plans for the big doings to be held here a week from next Saturday. The finance committee has devoted much time to soliciting funds and met with willing and liberal response from nearly everybody whom they have approached. Several have given much more than could reasonably be expected of them, notably a gentleman living out of town, who cheerfully contributed $10. Others who made good donations have informed the committee that their subscriptions would be increased if necessary. A few, however, have extended the "icy mitt," when approached, several of these being business men who could well afford to give.

It was determined at Monday evening's meeting to make the industrial and automobile parade one of the real choice features of the day's events, the sum of $125 being appropriated for this purpose, a portion of which will be given as prizes to the best decorated boats and autos. The parade committee, of which A. E. Bourne is chairman, are now actively at work and expect to put on something that alone will be worth coming miles to see. The aquaplane exhibition, mentioned elsewhere in this issue, will prove a decided novelty here and is sure to entertain the crowd. These contests have been big attractions at eastern watering places.

Boys and girls will be given a chance to earn money in the various sack and foot races to be pulled off. The sports committee also expect to buy a pig, which will be properly greased before being let loose. The finest display of fireworks ever shown in central Wisconsin is a promise made by those in charge of this feature.

Make your plans to spend July 4th in Stevens Point, where you are assured of a reusing good time.

Married in North Dakota.

Miss Ellen Dake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dake, formerly of this city but who now reside near Karinen, S. Dak., was married on Wednesday last to Harry Cummack, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents. The bride and groom have both lived in that section about the same length of time, between three and four years, and are the owners of valuable homesteads. Miss Dake has also been engaged in teaching school, having made the best of her time, and is a bright, energetic, ever-active young lady, good and kind. Most of her life was spent in the town of Linwood and this city and her innumerable friends will wish for her and the young man she has accepted as a life companion a future of happiness, contentment and plenty.

Picnic at Lake Emily.

It is expected that many hundred people will gather at Lake Emily next Sunday, when a field meet and picnic will be held for the benefit of St. James' congregation at Amherst. The principal attraction is a base ball game between Forester courts at Grand Rapids and Stevens Point, but there will also be various games, foot races, boat races, tug-of-war, ladies' ball throwing contest and other attractions, for which prizes will be given. The Amherst ladies will serve dinner and supper.

An excursion train on the G. B. & W. road will leave Stevens Point at 7:25 a. m.; returning train leaves Lake Emily at 8:50 p. m. A round trip rate of 50 cents will be collected.

A general invitation is extended and a pleasant day's outing is assured.

Has Grown to Manhood.

Leo W. Ellertsen of Seattle, Wash., was a guest at the home of W. F. Owen, on Ellis street, for a couple of days prior to Monday morning, when he left for a brief stay with friends at Grand Rapids, before departing for the far west. Leo is a former Stevens Point boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ellertsen, his father being head miller at the Jackson Milling Co. prior to about twelve years ago, when they went west. He now has charge of a large cereal mill, the largest in the western part of the country, and the family are nicely located in the suburbs of Seattle, enjoying good health. The son is connected with the finance division of the Seattle postoffice, where he has been for the past five years. On Wednesday last he attended the Owen-Hartleb wedding at Richfield, serving as groomsman, while Miss Clara Hartleb, sister of the bride, assisted as bridesmaid.

Annual Ice Cream Social.

St. Joseph's congregation will hold its annual lawn party and ice cream social on the parish grounds on Center avenue this afternoon and evening. The cream and cakes served are home-made. Weber's band will give a concert on the grounds during the evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and enjoy the music, the refreshments and other entertainment.

WERE MARRIED IN HULL

Stanislaus Jerzak of This City and Miss Frances Keen of Hull United at St. Casimir's Church.

Stanislaus Jerzak, one of Stevens Point's bright and energetic young business men, and Miss Frances Keen of the town of Hull, about six miles north of the city, on the Wausau road, were married at St. Casimir's church, Rev. Leo Jankowski officiating, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The young couple were attended by Joseph and Miss Pearl Jerzak, brother and sister of the bride, and the bride and bridesmaid looked handsome in their pretty gowns, the bride wearing white crepe du chine and carried a white prayer book, while the bridesmaid was attired in green crepe du chine and carried a basket of carnations and ferns.

Following the ceremony, at which Miss Helen Jerzak played Lohengrin's Wedding March, the wedding party, about fifty in number, repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Keen, where a reception was held throughout the day and night, dancing, music and general sociability being enjoyed.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jerzak and is associated with his father and brother, Frank, in the meat market business, corner of North Second street and Normal avenue. He is an enterprising young man, firstclass in all respects. The bride has made her home in the city much of the time for the past couple of years, is a prepossessing young lady, and well liked by all who know her. They will reside at 720 Union street, and have the best wishes of all for a happy future.

Are Eminent Surgeons.

A preliminary report on the treatment of fractures by fixation with animal bone plates and bone screws" by Drs. E. J. Broughton and A. C. Ecke of Chicago, a reprint from the "Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics," has been issued in pamphlet form, an illustrated copy of which has been received at this office. The last named gentleman, now one of Chicago's most eminent young physicians and surgeons, was born in this city and attended our schools prior to some twenty years ago, while the name of Dr. Broughton is known throughout the medical and surgical world in this country.

TRAGEDY AT EAGLE RIVER

Young Chicagoan Drowned and Former Stevens Pointer Has Narrow Escape in Testing New Boat.

Jos. Burke, mentioned in the following article, which appeared in last week's issue of the Eagle River Review, refers to a former resident of this city, who is now engaged in the boat business at that place, and owing no doubt to the fact that he is a good swimmer, his life was saved:

On Tuesday last Jos. Burke, accompanied Gus Eckland, an expert from Chicago, on a trial trip with the speed launch just received for Rev. Dr. H. H. Johnson of Clybourne, Texas. They ran up the lake a few miles and on the return, within a quarter mile of the boat house, some gasoline in the bottom of the launch caught fire. In an attempt to extinguish this by Mr. Burke, the flame caught his oil and gasoline saturated clothing. To remedy this, Burke leaped into the water, followed almost immediately by Eckland. Burke and others, who quickly came to the rescue, say that Eckland at once sank out of sight, making apparently no effort to save himself. Burke was picked up near the shore. The body of Eckland was recovered inside an hour and Dr. Myers made every effort for resuscitation but failed to succeed. A telegram was at once sent to the boat company at Chicago and H. Wilcox of that firm arrived Thursday afternoon, leaving with the remains Friday morning. From information furnished Undertaker Roderick, we are informed that the deceased was a single man, 22 years old, a resident of Illinois, and employed by the Weckler Boat Co. of Chicago as expert mechanic and came here to start the 100 horsepower boat sold by them to Rev. Johnson.

Is Chief Operator.

Miss Mary Van Hecke, who was called here last Saturday night by the tragic death of her father, Leonard Van Hecke, now fills the position of chief operator in the telephone exchange at Hibbing, Minn. Miss Van Hecke taught school in this county for several terms before going west.

Way Down East.

Misses Lettie and Julia Wick, Laura Pratt, Mary and Claire Collins spent last Friday and Saturday near Bancroft, visiting at W. D. Kollock's hospitable home, and assuredly enjoyed their outing. Miss Pratt returned there again this morning for a short stay before going to her home at Holbrook, Mass., to spend part of the summer vacation. She expects to return in August for a visit with Mrs. Evan Townsend at Negauau, Mich.

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD

Leonard Van Hecke of This City Fatally Hurt at Fond du Lac—Buried Here Monday.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last Friday evening C. E. Van Hecke received a telephone message from Fond du Lac bringing the startling intelligence that his oldest brother, Leonard Van Hecke, was fatally hurt that afternoon. From later advices it was learned that Mr. Van Hecke and John R. Harrison were cleaning the front of the Gruenheck store, South Main street, and were standing on a scaffold some twenty feet above the sidewalk when the rope attached to the left hand side of the platform broke.

Van Hecke fell to the cornice extending along the front of the building, below the second story windows, and then plunged to the sidewalk, striking on his head. Harrison, when he heard the rope break, attempted to seize hold of the framework of the scaffold, but failed. However, his foot caught in the floor of the platform and he was suspended in mid-air until rescued.

Temporary medical aid was immediately given Van Hecke, who was then removed in the ambulance to St. Agnes' hospital, where his death occurred within an hour. The fall brought on concussion of the brain. He also had four ribs broken on the left side and a broken ankle.

Quite number of people were on the sidewalk almost directly below when the accident happened and it seems remarkable that none of them were struck by Mr. Van Hecke's body. He did not scream or make any outcry. All that was heard was the crashing of the scaffold against the building and then the body was hurled to the cornice and the cement walk.

H. D. Weston went to Fond du Lac Saturday morning and accompanied the remains to this city on Soo train No. 5 next evening. They were taken to the home of the deceased gentleman's youngest daughter, Mrs. Walter Hoyle, 322 Pine street. John F. Gruenheck, owner of the property on which Mr. Van Hecke was at work, and Jas. McHugh with whom the unfortunate man roomed, also escorted the body here.

Leonard Van Hecke was the first born in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Van Hecke. His birthplace was Boeverie, Belgium, and the date March 15, 1854, making him a few months past 60 years of age. He was yet a small child when the family emigrated to America, locating on land in Sharon township, and most of his younger days were spent there and in Srockton.

For several years he conducted a feed and provision business at Hurley, later returning to Stevens Point and for a long time filled the position of bookkeeper for the Langenberg Brick Mfg. Co. He later was traveling salesman for the Automatic Cradle Co. but a year or two ago went to Fond du Lac and much of the time since has served as janitor and general utility man at the Episcopal convent.

Mr. Van Hecke was twice married, but both wives are dead. The surviving members of his immediate family are one son and three daughters. Leo, traveling representative for the Calumet Baking Powder Co. in Colorado, Mrs. D. W. Moran of Duluth, Miss Mary Van Hecke of Hibbing, Minn., and Mrs. Hoyle of this city. His aged mother is living here. There are also five brothers, John Van Hecke of Merrill, Leander of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., David of Amarillo, Texas, Chas. E. of this city and Jas. A. of Chicago.

Leander boarded a steamer at New Orleans last Friday for a business trip to southern Mexico, and because of poor train connections at Kansas City David was unable to reach here until Monday night. The son, Leo, could not be reached by telegraph.

All other members of the family were present at the funeral, which took place from St. Stephen's church at 9 o'clock Monday morning, Rev. W. J. Rice officiating, interment following in the parish cemetery. Pallbearers were J. D. McHugh, Rupert Ward, O. H. Tack, John W. Glennon, C. E. Shortell and Chas. Derrick.

Sunday at Waupaca.

Mrs. J. L. Sturtevant of Wausau chaperoned a party of young people, former Normal students and others from this city to the Waupaca lakes last Saturday, where they spent Sunday. The party was composed of the Misses Margaret Rowe, Ella Langenberg, Ruth Hetzel, Janette McCready, Katherine Rowe, Leda Barrows, of this city, Mary Sturtevant and Virginia Hodges of Wausau, Honora Frawley of East Claire, and Messrs. Ray Clark, Meehan Pfister, A. F. Barrows, T. L. N. Port, Earl Wilson and Clarence Coye, city, Myron Harshaw, Chicago, and Ben Wolfe, Richfield.

Shot Through the Toe.

Otto Meitzel, an engineer on the Soo line, who makes his headquarters at the Park Hotel, may be laid up two or three months because of a serious mishap last Saturday evening. He and Chas. Scholl were walking along the east bank of the Wisconsin river, near the Soo railroad bridge, each carrying a shotgun, that of Mr. Meitzel being pointed downwards. It was a Winchester of the hammerlock variety, the hammer being partly raised, when it is evident that the young man touched the trigger with his fingers, exploding the shell. The shot tore a hole through his right shoe, penetrating the great toe and making a jagged wound. The doctors in attendance hope to prevent blood poisoning and save the toe, but it will be many weeks before Otto is again able to work.

Band Concert.

Following is the program for the open air concert by Weber's band, at court house square, Thursday evening of this week:

THE BIGGEST LITTLE CITY

The Milwaukee Free Press Has Write-up of Stevens Point in Last Sunday's Issue.

The following brief but well-worded write-up of Stevens Point was published in last Sunday's issue of the Milwaukee Free Press. Above the article was shown two cuts, one a picture of Main street looking east from the public square and the other a view of the fair grounds:

Stevens Point, "the biggest little city in Wisconsin," as it is termed by its citizens, is making a strong bid for fame in the Badger state. It is situated 150 miles northwest of Milwaukee and is in the geographical center of Wisconsin.

While well advertised through the extensive agricultural community that surrounds it, Stevens Point is a real live manufacturing center. The Soo line and Green Bay & Western, which make the city easy of access, serve as a satisfactory outlet for the many industries which thrive there.

Stevens Point borders on the great Wisconsin timber belt. This advantage gave the city its start in the pioneer days and has been a notable factor in its steady growth of more recent years.

The Wisconsin river, flowing through the city, furnishes water power that has been partially developed. Plans are under way for further harnessing this vast force at various points in it above and below the city. A few miles to the east is the Plover river, which has been recently constructed a thirty-foot dam to generate electric power for the city. The installation of this electrical power house has materially lowered the cost of electric service.

Although the last census places the population of Stevens Point at 6,000, a conservative estimate gives an increase of 2,000 since 1910, making a total of 11,000 at the present time.

Chief among the industries of the city are three saw and planing mills, two ash and door factories, two furniture factories and a box factory. Stevens Point also can boast the largest fishing fly factory in the country. Here, too, is located the only automatic cradle factory in the United States. A few miles south of the city are two paper mills, both on the Wisconsin river, from which they draw their power. Print and writing paper are manufactured here and their products are sold all over the country.

As a fair example of the confidence displayed in the future of Stevens Point the case of one of the city's largest acquisitions in the industrial field may be cited. The Soo line some time ago removed part of its machine shops from Stevens Point to a town further south. When knowledge of the vacant buildings reached the Railways Materials company, a large eastern concern, the opportunity was eagerly taken to make use of the idle space and work is now being rushed to put the plant into shape to run in the fall. The company, which is branching into Stevens Point and this city, has been their home ever since, with the exception of about three years spent at New London and a couple of years on a farm west of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan observed the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage last November, when some of their children and other friends were present from outside. Then in the enjoyment of good health, all confidently looked forward for many more years of happiness together.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan were the parents of fourteen children, six of whom survive their mother, Mrs. M. J. McMahon and James Sullivan of Superior, Mrs. Charles Murray of Bayfield, Frank Sullivan of Ashland and the Misses Alice and Theresa Sullivan of this city, all of whom were present before the death and at the funeral of their mother. Two brothers and two sisters survive, Thos. and James Coleman of Berlin, Mrs. Helen McLaughlin of Wild Rose and Mrs. Wm. Buck of Milladore, all of whom were also present at the funeral, as was also Mrs. Jas. Sullivan and children of Superior, Mr. and Mrs. McMahon of Hudson, M. J. McMahon of Superior, Ray Corcoran of Ashland, Miss Maude Pemberton of Wild Rose and Mrs. Herman Russ of Waupaca, a grand niece and niece of the deceased.

The deceased lady was truly a pioneer, one of the early residents of the North Side. She was ever good and kind, a true Christian citizen, devoted wife and mother, one who was ever ready in time of sickness or trouble among neighbors and friends, and the noble works of charity performed during life should be credited with golden letters in the great beyond.

The funeral took place from St. Stephen's church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, Rev. W. J. Rice officiating, with interment in the family lot in the parish cemetery. The pallbearers were John Leahy, Chas. H. McCann, Alexander Love, A. J. Cuneen, Alois Gross and E. D. Glennon.

Pres. Pray in Town.

G. T. B. Pray, former president of the Stevens Point Normal, and who has made his home in the east for the past few years, where he represents the Calumet Tea & Coffee Co. of Chicago, selling to large consumers such as hospitals and other institutions, has been mingling among old friends here for a couple of days. He is on his way to Magdeleine Island, one of the Apostles, where he will be joined by his daughter and son, Miss Florence and Kenneth, the latter's little daughter and other relatives, to spend a couple of months.

Popular Plainfield Pair.

Hundreds of friends throughout this section will extend congratulations and well-wishes to Paul W. Rindfleisch and Miss Mabel Pratt, who were married at Plainfield last week Tuesday evening, June 16th, Rev. L. B. Colman officiating. Mr. Rindfleisch is proprietor of the Plainfield garage and is numbered among the most progressive business men in that village. He is also a fine fellow personally and deserves the good things of this life. His bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Pratt, pioneer residents there. She is an accomplished young lady and greatly admired by all who know her.

An Explanation.

To The Public: The play, "Billy's Bungalow," to be given the nights of June 29th and July 1st at the Grand, is for the sole purpose of helping pay off a debt of two thousand dollars still unpaid and owing by the City Hospital Association; and it has nothing whatever to do with St. Michael's hospital, and is not for the benefit of said hospital in any manner whatever.

The undersigned, who has had charge of the advertising, being a total stranger in the city, was unfamiliar with the fact that the association and the hospital were two distinct organizations, and for this reason the error was made.

T. C. Lewis.

James Waters. Pioneer of Plover and Portage County. Died Monday Night at Hospital.

James Waters of Plover, who had been a patient at St. Michael's hospital in this city since the first of last February, passed away at that institution at 9 o'clock Monday evening. For a year or more he had been in failing health. He lived at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Dunavan, the postmistress at Plover, who cared for him as long as it was possible to do so and it was finally determined to bring him to the hospital. From the first it was decided that death was only a matter of time, gangrene having already appeared in his lower limbs, both of which finally dectaded. However, he suffered but very little pain, seemed reconciled to his fate and patiently awaited the final summons.

Jas. Waters was a native of England, born Oct. 24, 1845, and was therefore in the 79th year of his age. He had resided at Plover for about 60 years, being one of the first to locate there, and was known far and wide as a good-natured, earnest, honest and conscientious man, one who was ever true to his friends and with much influence in the community.

His wife and one son died many years ago and he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Dunavan of Plover and Mrs. Philip Bremmer of Portland, Oregon.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon, services being conducted in the Plover cemetery by the Masonic fraternity of that village, of which order Mr. Waters had been a member for many years.

HOLTON OF THE NAVY

A STORY OF THE FREEING OF CUBA

by Lawrence Perry

SYNOPSIS.

Lieutenant Holton is detached from his command in the navy at the outset of the Spanish-American war and assigned to important secret service duty. While dining at a Washington hotel he detects a waiter in the act of robbing a beautiful young lady. He saves her and kills the thief and gives her name as La Tossa, a Cuban patriot. Later he meets her at a ball. A secret service man warns Holton that the girl is a spy. Miss La Tossa leaves for her home in Cuba. Holton is ordered to follow her. They meet on the Tampa train. Miss La Tossa tells him Holton is a Cuban spy and expresses her regard for the safety of the United States. Holton is ordered to remain at Tampa to guard the troop transports. He saves the transports from destruction at the hands of dynamiters and reports to Admiral Sampson for further duty. Holton is sent to General Garcia's command in time to rescue a newspaper correspondent to investigate Cuban plots against the American troops and to learn the plans of the Spanish navy. He detects trusted Cuban leader in the work of fermenting trouble among the Cubans in the United States and the barracks. He is seized as a friend of the spy and later ordered executed as a spy. He escapes and saves the American troops from falling into a Spanish ambush. He learns from General Garcia that the spy is Jose Cesnola, one of the most trusted leaders. Holton takes part in the battle at Santiago. Disguised as a Spanish soldier he enters Santiago. He fights his way to the home of Miss La Tossa, where he overhears a discussion of the Spanish plans by leading army and navy commanders. He learns that the Spanish fleet will leave the harbor at Santiago on July 2. Holton escapes and arrives in sight of the American fleet and arrives in time to save the ship sail away. After frantic signaling he is answered by the Brooklyn. He warns Schley of the intentions of the Spanish fleet and witnesses the destruction and capture of the enemy's vessels. Holton learns that Shafter has received a message from President McKinley claiming that the war was intended for the sole purpose of freeing Cuba. He learns that a meeting of dissatisfied Cubans is to be held that night to plot against the American army. He gives Miss La Tossa the president's message. She speaks on the meeting and hears Cesnola attack the Americans. Miss La Tossa denounces Cesnola and reads McKinley's message. Garcia and his soldiers place Cesnola under arrest. Later he is ordered executed. The Spanish forces surrender and Shafter enters Santiago.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Frightful Revelation.

Holton's ride back to the city was the most forlorn he had ever taken. In the flash of a hand he had been lowered from the heights of ecstasy to the depths of despair. A beautiful dream had been lived out, and the bitter realities of waking had come.

As he sat before his tent thinking, a man paused in front of him, holding his broad sombrero in his hand. As Holton glanced at him curiously his face lighted with recognition.

"Pierre!" he cried, rising. "What do you want?"

The Cuban nodded to him gravely.

"Can you come with me, Lieutenant Holton? It is very important."

Holton, without replying, accompanied the Cuban.

The two hurried along until at length the Cuban stopped in front of a long, rambling, one-story building, evidently used at one time as a barracks for the Spanish soldiers. He leaned down and took off his shoes, motioning Holton to do likewise.

Realizing that the situation was ripe with importance, the American sat down and complied without a word.

Then, rising in his stocking feet, Pierre took from his pocket a key, unlocked the door, and entered, motioning Holton to follow. After they were

As His Face Turned, Holton Gasped.

Both inside, the Cuban closed the door and locked it, withdrawing the key and placing it in his pocket again.

"She has not arrived yet," remarked Pierre. "I am happy. I feared it would be too late."

"Too late for what? Who did you expect to find here?" whispered Holton, almost irritably.

For answer Pierre squeezed his arm and silently pointed out into the night.

Following the man's finger, Holton saw the form of a woman alighting from a pony. As his eyes strained he recognized Miss La Tossa.

By his side was a man and, as his face turned toward the building, Holton gasped and whispered hoarsely to his companion:

"Give me that key!"

Americans as a man would speak to the woman he loves, with the whole truth in my heart. I have talked, since I saw you this morning, with scores of high officers, and I can tell you that what I have already said to you is the whole truth.

"Cuba is certainly and surely to be left to the Cubans. England, France, Germany, Italy—all great countries have been officially assured by the state department that it is to be. But first, order must be restored here and the wheels of government set going. To that end General Wood is to be appointed military governor, and in good time every single American soldier will leave this island. There is no doubt about that. Ah, Miss La Tossa, believe me! For, as God is my judge, I have spoken only the truth.

"One moment," as she essayed to speak. "Losing you is a price too great for me to pay—even when it involves saving my countrymen. No, I cannot lose you—and live. I do not wish to live. And so—you have not believed me. Every look, every word of yours tells me you regard me as a liar. So be it."

He moved away from the push-button and folded his arms.

"You are now at perfect liberty to press that button. I shall not interfere. I shall stay here and die with you. That is my wish. Life means nothing now for me."

A cry of horror broke from the girl. She stood swaying, surveying the two with staring eyes. Her gaze at length fastened upon Holton, standing there, his arms folded, his broad shoulders heaving, his dark, handsome face turned to her with an expression of great tenderness.

Something in his eyes, something magnetic, the power of his great love

Pierre laughed without mirth.

"The man is a devil!" he replied. "The firing party at his execution was selected by an officer friendly to him. They shot over his head. He pretended death. Thus he escaped. General Garcia was tricked by his own men."

Holton nodded.

"But what is the meaning of all these instruments?" he asked. "And why have you brought me here?"

The man faced Holton gravely.

"This tunnel," he answered, "leads under the heart of Santiago. At short distances it is packed with dynamite. This key will release the spark that sets it off. It is the plan that the city and the American soldiers shall be blown to pieces, after which, the Cuban soldiers now gathered on the secret trail, leading into the town, will rush in and assume control."

"And Miss La Tossa?" he asked quaveringly.

"Senorita has been selected to press the button. I have brought you here to stop her. To save the city, to save the Americans, to save herself, for when that button is pressed she dies here." Pierre sank on his knees.

"Oh, Mr. Holton, save her! She loves you. You love her! Save her. You can, and you alone can."

Holton struck the man on the shoulder and his voice was stern.

"I will save her," he paused. "So help me, Pierre, I will!"

The candle was blown out and the two waited in the darkness.

"But why?" whispered Holton, "has Miss La Tossa volunteered for this work?"

"Because," was the reply, "the person who presses that button will never leave this place. It is intended that it shall be destroyed so that no trace of the mystery will ever be found."

Holton's heart grew sick. Undoubtedly the girl, in her blind, patriotic fury, had come forward as a martyr to give her life for the country she loved.

At the moment there was the sound of a lock turning and then the door creaked. Holton and Pierre were lying behind some wine-casks. The next instant they knew the girl was in the apartment with them.

They heard a match strike. Evidently she had lighted a lantern, for a soft yellow glow filled the place. And now Holton, peering through a crack between two casks, saw her.

Holton arose silently and stole to a position directly in front of the switch key. When she returned she found him there with arms folded, standing as immobile as a statue.

She did not scream. Her lips parted and she stood still, staring at him with dilated eyes. So they stood for the space of a minute. To Holton it seemed an eternity. Then she spoke.

"You!" Her voice was deep, but expressionless.

"It is I, Miss La Tossa," responded Holton.

"Why—why have you come here?"

"I have come to save you from yourself. You are in the grip of a great misunderstanding."

Before Holton's steady, compassionate gaze, the girl's eyes fell. It was as though some message from the American's heart had reached her. At any rate, her voice became more gentle.

"You must leave me, Lieutenant Holton," she resumed. "I—I—"

She paused, realizing what it would mean to have Holton leave her to perform her deadly task of shattering the city and its American occupants. This thought caused her to reel.

Then, as though with the flashing swiftness of lightning, she sprang toward the officer and threw one arm around his neck, the other reaching over and touching the electric button.

"Now, Mr. Holton," she cried, "if you move I shall press—"

Before she could complete her sentence Holton raised his shoulder ever so slightly and her finger was thus removed at least an inch out of reach of the little knob. She tried to spring away from him, but Holton held her.

"Miss La Tossa," he began, "I came here because I love you—that is my only thought. I love you. I have loved you since I first saw you. I have spoken to you concerning the signal for him as he struggled with his necktie to yell down stairs, "Maria, bring Bridget pour the coffee. Under the new order of things the same sound will be the reveille for him to jump out of bed and shed his pajamas. And then, too, what about the card playing contingent? How can the commuter expect to reach his office in a proper frame of mind for business if he has been wasting upon breakfast the time consecrated to the regular morning game? Pinocchio and pancakes are plainly incompatible."

had gone from the fact that his horse had departed.

As they walked to the girl's pony, though, Holton, with a sudden exclamation, leaned forward. There, almost at his feet, lay the body of a man. The girl saw it almost at the same instant.

"What is it?" she asked tremulously.

"A man," was the solemn reply.

Holton lighted a match and bent over the body. Then he straightened up as though he had been struck in the face.

"It is Cesnola!" he whispered breathlessly.

"Cesnola!" She bent down until her face was close to the dead man, and her hand, reaching out, came in contact with a knife. This she withdrew, and, standing up, trembling, she held it toward Holton.

"You must get rid of this!" she cried.

"Rid of it? Why?"

"Because it is Pierre's knife." In a flash Holton saw it all. Pierre, coming out had seen the spy waiting for the explosion. Filled with hatred for the man who had led his beloved Ranee into this situation, he had promptly paid off the score.

"Give me the knife." Holton wrapped the thing in his handkerchief, and in good season contrived to place it where it would never be found, which is getting a bit ahead of the story.

In the meantime the two wended their way toward headquarters, Holton leading the horse, the girl walking very close to his side. The recent ordeal, coupled with the discovery of the body of Cesnola, had unnerved her, and occasionally a dry sob broke from her lips.

Holton decided that, more than anything else, she needed lights, good cheer, and good food. So they went to the Venus restaurant, and there, amid all the brilliancy of its military patrons, the blushes returned to the girl's cheeks and the laughter to her lips.

After their meal Holton and the girl set out for the La Tossa estate, the girl on her pony and Holton on a horse he borrowed from one of the general's aides.

When they reached the estate it was nearly midnight. Ranee was delighted to find awaiting her a message from her father in Havana, assuring her that he was well, and that through force of circumstances he would remain in that city until the result of the present campaign was determined.

The girl wept over the letter as she handed it to Holton.

"Poor, dear father!" she cried. "I trust he is happy—as happy as—as."

Holton crushed her to his breast.

As to the war, but little remained. The fleet of Cervera had been wiped out and thus shorn of sea power, there was really little use in resistance on land. So it came about that peace was agreed upon by commissioners of the two countries.

It was on this day that Holton, with a long leave of absence, and many flattening official papers in his luggage, stood on the deck of a great transatlantic liner, looking down upon the crowd assembled on pier and bulkhead to wave farewell and Godspeed to friends and relatives who were hurrying to the continent to spend the last brilliant days of the waning summer away from the scenes of bloodshed and disease.

Close by his side, with her arm tightly locked in his, was a girl so radiant that she attracted the attention of everyone who passed the little group. She had just kissed her father good-by and he was turning to leave the ship.

"And you, Thomas," he said, "will not be selfish. You will let my daughter come to me on the estate frequently."

"As frequently as she wishes," laughed Holton, "when I am doing my two years' sea service."

The father laughed and waved good-by. But just before the ship sailed they made out his figure dashing to the end of the bulkhead.

"Father!" cried the girl, "what is it?"

Senor La Tossa held aloft an evening newspaper.

"Peace!" he cried. "Peace has been declared."

"She turned to Holton.

"Peace," she smiled.

Holton pressed her arm.

"Was there ever anything but peace anywhere in all the world?" he whispered.

(THE END.)

INNOVATION MAY NOT WORK

Weak Human Nature Likely to Spoil Laudable Move Made by an Eastern Railroad.

In announcing a breakfast car service for commuters an eastern railroad evidently seeks to discourage the reprehensible practice of sprinting for the morning train, and the still more reprehensible practice of missing it. But there appears some danger that the innovation may fall of its laudable purpose, remarks the Newark Star. The average commuter's last moments is too deeply ingrained to be broken.

The time saved by not breakfasting at home will be devoted to 40 extra winks. As it is now, when Mr. Howson Lott, of Lonesomehurst, hears the chugging of his train leaving the next station up the road it is the signal for him as he struggles with his necktie to yell down stairs, "Maria, bring Bridget pour the coffee. Under the new order of things the same sound will be the reveille for him to jump out of bed and shed his pajamas. And then, too, what about the card playing contingent? How can the commuter expect to reach his office in a proper frame of mind for business if he has been wasting upon breakfast the time consecrated to the regular morning game? Pinocchio and pancakes are plainly incompatible."

MADE A PERSONAL APPEAL

Tailor's Desperate Endeavor to Make Convention Listen to "His Best Customer."

Registrar O'Loughlin of Brooklyn will think twice before he undertakes to address another convention of tailors. His own tailor led him into it.

O'Loughlin put on his openwork clothes and sat on the platform. Tailors, cutters, buyers, city salesmen, bushmen, models, bosses, other items of the tailoring industry buzzed loudly on the floor. Now and then some man would enter and be greeted with applause.

"That," said O'Loughlin's tailor and guide, "is Max Schleifer, he is the buyer for Clipper & Menx."

Hours O'Loughlin sat there. At last he was introduced as the next speaker. No one paid the least attention to him. Conversation rose toward the heights of emotion. After three false starts O'Loughlin sat down. He was angry enough for arson. His tailor was black rage on his brow.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he belied, waving at the table with his gavel. "You should listen to Mr. O'Loughlin. He is my best customer.—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph."

As the Record Proves.

Without going into the merits or demerits of the anti-trust legislation enacted by the House, one fact commands attention.

The vote by which the three measures making up the Administration program were passed, was not a party vote. But one Progressive voted against the Clayton bill. The rest, together with forty-three Republicans, voted for it. Eight Republicans and four Democrats voted against the Rayburn bill. All of the Progressives voted for it. The Covington bill was passed without a record vote.

Mr. Roosevelt has announced that his campaign against the Wilson administration will be an attack on its tariff and trust legislation. In both the administration has commanded almost as large a percentage of Progressive as of Democratic votes.

"Will Mr. Roosevelt ignore the legislative record of one party in attacking that of another? Will the people be fooled, if he makes the attempt?" Louisville Times.

Four Page Comic Section.

The Milwaukee Journal announces the addition of a four-page colored comic supplement to their regular Sunday paper.

The comic supplement contains a full page of Buster Brown, Mary Jane and Buster's dog Tige, a full page of Dolly Dimples, a page of Pa and his titled Son-in-Law, and also a page of Hilda, the one and only hired girl who never held a job.

No other comic supplement excels it in quality of humor or color effects. Besides the comic, there are many other pages of interesting news and feature matter that appeal to all.

The price of a yearly subscription, including this big feature, is now but $3.00 or $4.50 with The Gazette, strictly in advance.

LETTER FROM CIRCUS BOY

Arndt Augustad, Clown With Ringling Bros. Circus, Tells of Some Experiences This Season.

Arndt Augustad, a Stevens Point young man who is one of the clowns in the Ringling Bros. circus and has adopted a tango skirt this year, writes a few interesting points to The Gazette from Canada, where the show has been for the past few weeks. His letter was dated at Toronto, June 15th. When at Cleveland, Ohio, he says, a big lumber yard burned and half of the Ringling Bros.' cars, that were stationed near the yards, went up in smoke, including flat and stock cars, but the shows did not lose a single day on that account, opening the next day in full blast at Marion, Ohio, the telegraph wires being kept red hot that night securing new equipment. Later one of their trains, carrying the cooking outfit, animals, etc., when they were transferring from one road to another, was wrecked, two cars turning turtle into a ditch, eight people being so badly injured that they were taken to a hospital at Kalamazoo, Mich. There were no performers among the injured, Arndt says, as all of the latter ride in the last train of sixteen.

"Joe Brooks, formerly of Burley's Smoke Shop, Stevens Point, is treasurer of the show and pays us real money every Tuesday evening. He sends all the boys his best regards. We are all in good health, as we have plenty of out door sport."

The circus is at Malone, N. Y., today and will be in Michigan next Monday, making only three stops in that state, thence to South Bend, Ind., Aurora, Ill., and at Racine, Wis., on the 4th of July.

Married Thursday Evening.

Miss Hattie Kerezewkey and Arthur A. Lohman, both of this city, were married by Rev. James Blake at 8:30 last Thursday evening. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. Blake, where the bride had resided for some time, although the home of her parents is at Clintonville. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pett.

The groom is a passenger brakeman man on the Soo, and has made Stevens Point his headquarters for the past couple of years, being highly spoken of by associates and acquaintances. The bride is a worthy, excellent young woman.

On their return from a wedding trip to Ashland, Clintonville and elsewhere, they will be at home at 847 Division street.

Let's All Be Boosters.

There is joy in being a booster—not the wild and woolly kind that makes assertions regardless of the facts—but the serious kind that puts the best foot forward, as the saying goes.

One optimist who keeps his feet on the ground and secures the serious consideration of the public to the good things of his section is worth more than a multitude of the other kind.

Wisconsin is too good a state and is blessed with such good crops and so much prosperity that nothing but the trots need be told to interest any serious thinking person.

Dividend 13 Per Cent Paid—Your chances of living to a ripe old age are better now than they were, even a few short years ago. According to the United States Census Bureau, there was a decrease in 1913 of one in eight deaths as compared with 1901.

These were not freak years. The decline has been consistent throughout the period. To indicate what this saving in life means to the country, 134,623 more people would have died in 1913 had the average rate of the period from 1901 to 1905 prevailed.

That is an interesting and important trial balance. It shows that a tremendous dividend is being paid on the life saving business. Certainly the investment of a little more interest and attention to "the business of living" has paid.

During this period there has been an encouraging decrease in the number of commercial medical schools. Standards of training and practice have been tremendously elevated.

The public owes much to the medical profession for its consistent and successful efforts to reform and elevate standards. This is particularly true because of the fact that these efforts have been stubbornly resisted by the non-medical public. The changes were made in the face of charges of "jealousy," "the creation of a medical trust," etc., etc., and against the opposition of pretenders.

The number of, and interested in, health associations has increased. The anti-tuberculosis, child welfare, visiting nurse, playground and other similar organizations have done much. The public has supported them generously, and received results out of all proportion to the cost.

Medical inspection of school children, large appropriations to health departments, better regulation of milk, food and drug supplies, have had their share. Dispensaries, public hospitals and sanatoria for contagious diseases, have justified the support of the wise public officials who provide them.

Above all, and a part of all, has been the increase in intelligence and the decrease in superstition concerning the cause and nature of disease. From the scientific investigator to the agencies which are popularizing the expert knowledge, the public is receiving incalculable benefits.

What has been accomplished is only a promise of what will be accomplished. The dividends that have been earned are but a guarantee of the larger dividends to come. The promoters of public health enterprises have justified their claims and your confidence. You can not afford, as an individual, to miss your opportunity to invest in health to the fullest extent of your means. For, living is a business—the most important business that life offers.

Local Notes.

Mrs. W. E. Fisher is visiting among friends in Milwaukee.

Frank Naliborski left for a visit with friends in Chicago the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Behrendt are visiting among friends at Minneapolis, to return this week.

Harry Young and R. B. Woodworth left for Madison to attend the summer school the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hartwig, who reside near Coddington, drove up Saturday and spent a part of the day in the city.

E. C. Behrens of Chicago arrived the last of the week to visit at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. A. Walters, on Main street.

Mrs. Earl Dignan of Plainfield spent several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fonstad in this city last week.

A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Mainland at their home on Clark street last Friday morning, 19th inst.

Mrs. H. Kueper and daughter left for Chicago last Thursday, going from there to Freeport, Ill., to join their husband and father, who holds a position there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Normington and four children left last week by auto for Milwaukee, Chicago and other points, where they spent several days, having an enjoyable outing.

Eugene Krems of Merrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Krems, has been visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Alexander Krems, on Main street, for a few days.

Misses Molly and Mary Kamrowski and Jennie Kuchnowski left for the north last Friday morning, intending to spend a couple of weeks among friends at Ashland, Bessemer and Ironwood.

Miss Ellen MacNees, who held the position of supervisor of the deaf school in this city for several years, left for her home at Richland Center last Friday. Miss MacNees will not return next year, to the regret of her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sturtevant of Wausau spent part of last Thursday in the city, coming down to attend the graduating exercise at the Normal, their daughter, Miss Mary, being one of the graduates. Mr. Sturtevant is the editor of the Wausau Record-Herald.

Mrs. V. W. Purdy has returned from Kirksville, Mo., where she has been a student at the American School of Osteopathy, and will remain here during the summer. Mrs. Purdy is still quite lame as the result of an accident about four weeks ago, she being thrown from a carriage and one of her ankles catching in the spokes of a wheel.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lally, who recently disposed of their farm in the town of Stockton, have moved their household goods to the city, but cannot get possession of the residence at the corner of Smith and Briggs street purchased from N. Ossowski, for three or four weeks. In the meantime they will visit at the home of his brother, Martin, at Rhinelander.

Mrs. Wm. Moeschler and daughter, Miss Clara, left for Minneapolis last Friday, the former to visit among friends for about one week, while the latter will join a party of young lady friends from Milwaukee for a tour of six weeks through North Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho and Oregon, returning via Utah, Colorado and other states.

Francis Knope, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Knope, has had one of his hands very carefully bandaged for the past few days. While handling a firearm, used for blank cartridges, the gun was discharged, accidentally of course, and the services of a doctor were immediately thereafter required. The boy, however, will be in good condition for celebrating the 4th.

Those Modern Improvements.

There are few farmers in the state of Wisconsin who cannot as well afford to have modern improvements in their homes as the people in the cities who have them. The farmers simply think they cannot—not all of them, for many are putting them into their homes. It is a thing that the family deserves—and it pays to have them.

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND

Many Lots in the Sellers' Addition on Whitney Avenue Disposed of at Auction Sale Last Thursday.

The auction sale of lots in the E. W. Sellers addition to the city of Stevens Point, located on Whitney avenue, in the Sixth ward, the first of its kind ever conducted in Stevens Point, was of much public interest last Thursday afternoon, fully one thousand people visiting the grounds, a large percentage being of the gentler sex and fifty-five lots were disposed of to the highest bidders, bringing prices that will no doubt prove profitable in due time.

Mr. Sellers has a few lots that remain unsold, as well as some acreage in the same locality, all of which can be secured at bargain prices. His promise to give away a number of pieces of furniture, was faithfully carried out.

The auction was conducted by Carey M. Jones & Co., Chicago auctioneers, and Weber's band assisted in attracting the crowd.

He Died Suddenly.

The remains of Joseph Roszka, a resident for the past six years, of the town of Hull, about four miles east of the city, were buried from St. Peter's church in this city at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. On Wednesday Mr. Roszka worked on his farm as usual, retiring early, at which time he complained of a pain in the region of his heart. At about 4 o'clock Thursday morning his wife was awakened by his unnatural breathing, from which she tried to arouse him, but was unable to do so and he soon passed away without regaining consciousness, heart trouble being the cause of death.

The deceased was about fifty years of age, and leaves a wife and nine children, the oldest being sixteen years of age. They came to this county from Nebraska and were prospering nicely.

WRITES OF THE WAR

Truman Schleissmann, of Rhinelander, on Board the U. S. Battleship Wyoming, Writes of Experiences.

Truman F. Schleissmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schleissmann of Rhinelander, formerly of this city, who is serving on the battleship Wyoming, writes to a friend in his home town from Vera Cruz, Mexico, under date of last month as follows: We had quite a bit of lively work down here in Vera Cruz, while it lasted. The only trouble was that the excellent way our men handled the situation, did not allow it to last long enough. When I look back at the first day of action and see the smiling eager faces of those of the men who were to take part in the fighting, and then look at the way they took the city, I cannot wonder at the praise and glory it affords each and every man of so efficient a service.

The call came as we were anchored in Hampton Roads, Va., on our preparation for target practice. Men were on shore leave and furloughs at the time. But as soon as notice was posted each and every man made all haste to answer, which enabled our commander in chief to report to the navy department, every man and ship ready.

The fleet under command of Rear Admiral C. J. Badger sailed from Hampton Roads, Va., on April 14 and with signals of speed proceeded to Vera Cruz, Mexico, to demand the salute to the stars and stripes.

I suppose the situation is well known in Rhinelander, as well as in any city of the U. S., so will not speak of it.

We arrived at Vera Cruz, April 22 at 2:00 a. m., after a smooth trip down. All the way down preparations were being made for war.

It is a well known fact that the sailor's uniform is of white drill, which would make a handsome target for the Mexicans; so we were given kaki dye, to soak clothes in and dark them, for the landing force.

Before we arrived we called all hands at 12:30 a. m., served breakfast at 1:00 a. m., anchored about 2:00 a. m., bore away all boats and landing forces in them 2:30 a. m. Landed at 3:00 on custom house dock under fire of the Mexicans; had steady fire up until 7:00 a. m., when the ships in the harbor started to bombard the town. The U. S. S. Chester and Prairie doing the firing with 5 and 3 inch guns.

Then the forces to move toward the city, destroying houses and stores and causing general havoc as they moved. By 11:00 the city was taken, with the exception of a few snipers on house tops and behind fallen structures. But our sharpshooters made short work to them, and soon had the city under complete control. Many cases could be cited where women and children tried to intercede in behalf of their husbands only to be shot themselves for treachery. The women seemed to be better shots than the men.

A general order from the commander in chief of the landing forces, Rear Admiral F. A. Fletcher, U. S. N. C., for all occupants of the city to hand over all implements of war, and nearly a car load of arms of all description were turned over, guns, pistols, knives, swords and dirks of a thousand varieties.

The dead and wounded reached 16 dead and 67 wounded Americans, and 320 Mexicans dead and wounded. At the present time everything seems to be going on as if nothing had happened in Vera Cruz.

The army has relieved the navy of its duty ashore and the ship's forces are back to duty, save the artillery force, which remained with the army.

Swimming, fishing, boating, shore leave and bull fights are now being enjoyed by all, and well appreciated.

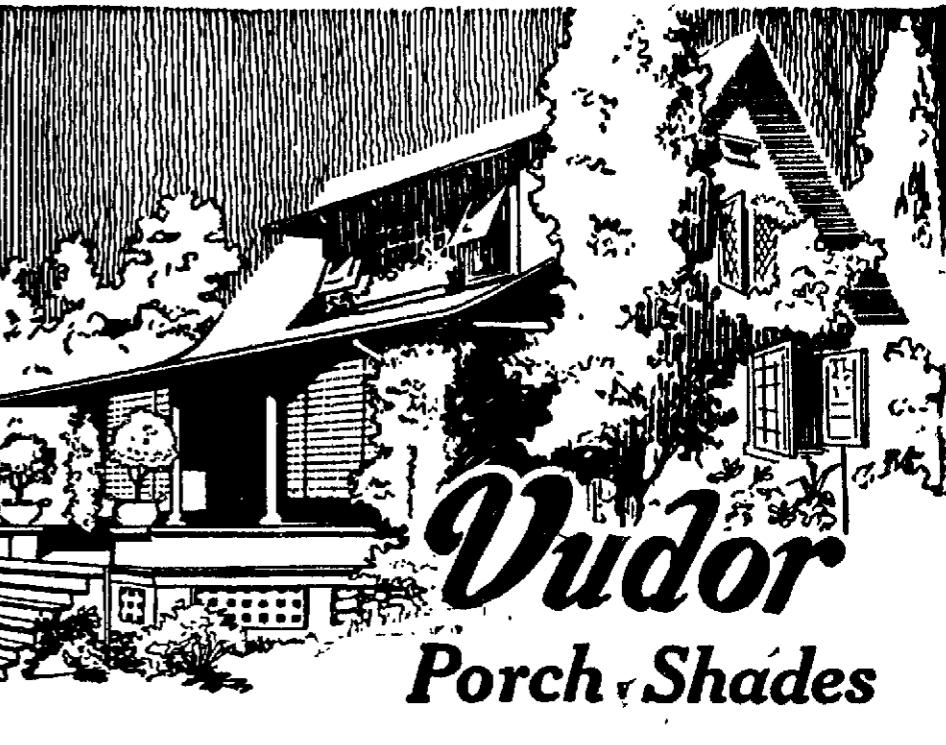

Have been in almost every country in the world since I left Rhinelander, and mostly every large city including important islands such as Cuba, Malta, Philippines, Australia, Tasmania, and others, but will certainly come back to Rhinelander when I am discharged.

Bob Nash Married.

Robt. L. Nash, postmaster at Grand Rapids, and Miss Nellie Grace Kirwin of Portage were married at St. Mary's church in the latter city last Wednesday, the ceremony being performed at an early hour in the morning. Following the ceremony the bridal pair intended giving them a warm reception, especially before their departure on a wedding tour, but Mr. and Mrs. Nash planned differently.

Slipping into the residence of a neighbor after leaving church, they hastily donned traveling attire, jumped into an auto and sped away to a neighboring town, where an outgoing train was caught and the wedding journey began, notwithstanding an elaborate breakfast awaited them "back home."

Bob Nash, who has scores of friends in Stevens Point and wherever known, is one of the best fellows on earth, a fine citizen from the crown of his head down, and he is said to have won a sweet colleen just his match.

Resorting to Falsification.

Not satisfied with misrepresentation, exaggeration and insinuation, the desperate Republicans at Washington are now resorting to prevarication. Congressman Humphrey, of Washington, one of the most vociferous of the callow bowlers and subsidy shouters, said in a speech in the House in an effort to create business depression:

"Last April the balance of trade against us was $10,000,000, the first time it has been against us since the old Gorman-Wilson law went off the statute book."

The Gorman-Wilson tariff went off the statute books in 1897, and no yearly balance of trade ran against the country under it.

MAKES BACKACHE QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

A Few Doses Relieves All Such Miseries. Bladder Weakness, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away, all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to prescribe, return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

INDIVIDUAL HOG HOUSE.

Useful Adjunct to the Farm in Warm or Cold Weather.

Suitable farrowing houses are very necessary to successful handling of pigs. The houses that are used for farrowing purposes in the early spring can be used almost throughout the year in connection with the proper handling of the hogs, says the Kansas Farmer. This is especially true of the small individual farrowing houses which may be moved about the farm wherever it is desired to have suitable shelter for the stock. By blocking them up in the pastures they furnish shelter from the sun while permitting the wind to blow through underneath.

On figuring the cost of labor and material required to build a hog house large enough to accommodate a dozen sows conveniently at farrowing time it is found at the Kansas Agricultural College that the cost is greater than that required to build a dozen individual hog houses, the difference varying somewhat according to the style and size of the houses.

In the case of the centralized hog house the work of taking care of the sows can all be done in the same building, thus taking less work than the same number of sows would require if kept in individual houses. A centralized hog house is warmer than an individual house, and in case of early farrowing this makes the former very desirable.

A centralized hog house, however, keeps the hogs close together, and in case of disease there is greater danger that it will spread rapidly than if the hogs were kept in individual houses.

FOR MILADY'S FEET.

Shoes and Slippers That Are Modish and Attractive.

A small fortune is expended these days on footwear alone, for if milady is to expose her feet and ankles it is quite safe to predict that they will be clothed with as much care as she pays to the rest of her attire.

Slippers are composed of every known material, and many and curious are the methods of placing and arranging the straps, some for comfort, others for line, but all are exquisitely made.

Spats continue to be smart, and distant feet advancing toward one down the avenue have a twinkling effect under women's skirts as the spatted foot—if one may coin the expression—

Of fifty opinions expressed regarding the flavor of the samples twenty-five preferred the milk from cows fed corn and bran. As sixteen preferred the milk from cows fed oats and nine expressed no choice, it does not appear that either ration has any decided advantage over the other. There can be no great superiority in the bran and corn when one-half of the opinions were either indifferent or were in favor of the other milk.

In view of these experiments the department does not recommend the feeding of bran and corn to improve the flavor of milk. Oats, corn, alfalfa hay, cottonseed meal, linseed meal, bran, gluten and other good feeds for dairy cows when properly fed in reasonable amounts produce a fine flavored milk, but there is no substantial evidence that any one of them is superior to any of the others in this respect.

Lameness From Splints.

Splints on horses usually cause lameness only when the growth is forming, or at the time when there is an inflammation present. At this time the splint is classified as a temporary unsoundness. As soon as the inflammation disappears the lameness also disappears unless the cords of the leg rub on it, which is very rare, and when the lameness has disappeared they are classified as a blemish. The tendency for this growth is to gradually diminish in size as the animal grows older. There is no known treatment that will cause them to be absorbed. It is claimed that rubbing them may hasten their disappearance.

Look Out For Hog Cholera.

Most hogs die violent deaths. Of those dying of disease nine out of ten in the corn belt pass away of cholera. Therefore, if your hogs are dying and you don't know the cause, there are nine chances out of ten that it is cholera.

If your neighbor's hogs are dying of anything but the butcher's knife it is a nine to one probability that they have cholera and that your premises are in danger of infection. You won't make any mistake if you telephone for an expert with vaccine in either case.—New York Sun.

MOISTURE AND HEAT.

Why a Person May Feel Cold in a Room That Is Well Heated.

It often happens in winter that a person living in a steam heated apartment feels cold even when the thermometer shows the necessary degree of warmth in the room. Of course there is a reason for this and also a very simple remedy. The reason is that the air in the room is too dry—it does not contain enough moisture—and the remedy is, of course, to keep some water in the room at the time, so that it can evaporate into the air.

Our bodies, you see, are at all times exuding moisture in the form of perspiration. Now, this perspiration, even in winter, amounts to a great deal more than one would think, being measured in the pints. To evaporate water heat is to be used up, and, as the body is warmer than the air, the heat to evaporate this perspiration is taken from the body. Of course then the body feels cold.

Here is still another illustration of this fact. It has been shown by actual experiment that a man can stay in an oven heated to the boiling temperature of water and not get uncomfortably hot—that is, painfully hot. The heat makes him perspire, and the heat taken up by evaporation from the body keeps the body from getting hot. But suppose that the oven already contained in its atmosphere all the water vapor that it could hold. Then, as none could evaporate from the body, the drops on the body would soon get near the boiling point. So in the room referred to above, if it contains a good bit of moisture the evaporation from the body will not be so fast, and consequently the body will not feel cold.—New York American.

Attending Medical Meets.

Dr. C. von Neupert, Jr., left for Philadelphia, Pa., last Saturday morning, where on Monday he was admitted as a fellow member of the American College of Surgeons, and to secure which recognition, after long waiting and thorough investigation, it was necessary for him to appear in person. At this time the second annual meeting was held, and from there Dr. von Neupert left for Atlantic City, N. J., to attend the annual gathering of the American Medical Association, in session all this week, and will return home next Sunday.

Local Notes.

Game of Seven Innings Between Stevens Point and Marshfield Ends in a Tie—1 to 1.

In a pitching duel between right-handers Hollenbeck and Johnson, the Stevens Point and Marshfield base ball teams battled seven innings on even terms at the fair grounds in this city Sunday afternoon. Each side manufactured a single tally, but the contest was not allowed to continue to a satisfactory conclusion owing to the fact that Leon Friedmann, manager of the speed carnival and aeroplane exhibition that rounded out the afternoon's events, desired to pull off the remaining events before what seemed to be an impending shower materialized.

And thus did Mr. Friedmann err, for the thousand or more spectators intent on seeing one team or the other land the decision; aeroplane flights and motorcycle-auto races don't hold much attraction for the average fan, when held out as rival entertainment to a base ball game that sizzles with the sensational, as Sunday's did.

Both slabsmen were on edge and were given brilliant support. Shortstop Krab and Rightfielder Christianson of the visitors shone as the fielding heroes of the matinee, each of them cutting off a bit by a sensational catch. Marshfield played faultlessly on the defensive, while Stevens Point was chalked up with but one error—that a wild throw by Hussin on a difficult play after he had made a clean scoop of the ball.

Marsfield bunched two singles off Hollenbeck in the first inning, which, aided by a bad throw by Catcher Menzel and a wild pitch by Hollenbeck, gave them their tally.

Stevens Point went scoreless in the first three innings but knotted the count in the fourth on a triple by Fishleigh and a single by Manager Gregory.

The climax of all the excitement was unbroken in the locals' half of the seventh, when Hollenbeck came within a few inches of winning his own game. Hussin singled, stole second and went to third on an infield out. Then came "Holly." He laid one down about fifteen feet from the pan and Hussin came home. All eyes were turned on the pitcher, who was in the business of legging it for first, with all six cylinders working. But Christianson recovered the ball, shot it down to Revoir just ahead of the runner, and the game was over.

Two Houses Closed.

Two places of questionable character that had been maintained for some time just outside the city limits, in the town of Plover, with several female inmates, are said to have turned the keys in their doors from the outside, last Friday afternoon, and left for other parts. Dist. Atty. Sickles was interviewed in regard to the matter and after an investigation, informed the parties that their absence from the borders of Portage county was much preferable to their presence and to absent themselves at once. While the undesirables were neither lost nor stolen, their present whereabouts are unknown to the authorities, city or county.

Visitors From Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Alban of Kansas City, Mo., are in the city to spend several weeks here and at Plover, the scenes of his childhood and young manhood after an absence of forty years. Mr. Alban is a brother of the late S. H. Alban of Rhinelander, and also Mrs. J. O. Raymond and Mrs. A. O. Brown of Rhinelander, Mrs. R. H. Johnson of Wausau and Mrs. Cora Wiley of Oklahoma. While here Mr. and Mrs. Alban are guests of Jas. A. Bremner, J. W. Strope and other boyhood friends and "cronies" of Mr. Alban, all of whom are boys in spirit once more. They were in attendance at the Old Settlers' picnic last Saturday.

Public Library Notes.

During the past week Mrs. J. R. Whittaker, Mrs. Owen Clark, Mrs. Jessie Maddy and Miss Cecil Boursier have presented the library with beautiful cut flowers.

The library is indebted to Mrs. F. A. Walters for 85 choice engravings and descriptive text of great men and famous women and reproductions of great paintings. And to Dr. W. A. Stewart for a book on chiropractic and other drugless healing methods.

A number of books have been transferred from the rent collection to the main shelves and Bennett's "Price of Love" added to the former. Some interesting new books have been put on the shelves this week:

Kieeland—Mark Ladd.

Eaton—Boy scouts in the Dismal swamp.

Altsheler—Scouts of the Valley.

Grinnell—Jack, the young cowboy.

Harris—Joe, the book farmer.

WARS OF THE WORLD

Saloon Licenses Disposed of—Aldermen—Two Applications Turned Down.

After the minutes of preceding meeting had been read and the lone absentee had arrived, Mayor Pasternacki announced that there was a gentleman in the room who wished to address the council or make them a proposition. He then introduced James Proval, representing Geo. A. Ogles & Co., Chicago, plat and map engravers and publishers who contemplate getting a new map of Portage county, and who spoke on the necessity and merits of his proposed work for ten or fifteen minutes, at the end of which time Ald. Schenk moved that the city subscribe for three copies at $15 each, which motion was unanimously carried.

The committee on license then reported in favor of granting saloon licenses to applicants, some 48 in number, together with a license to the Hagenauer Brewing Co. and the various applicants for pharmacists' permits, except to one Joe Romak at 210 public square, who had not appeared before the committee when requested to do so, but it being explained that he was out of the city, the matter was deferred.

Ald. McDonald moved that licenses, including pharmacists, be taken up and voted on separately, and although this mode of procedure was declared too tedious and unnecessary, being a waste of time, by Ald. Schenk and Playman, the latter, who is chairman of the committee on license, declaring that each applicant against whom anything derogatory had been said in any respect, had been summoned before the committee and promised to walk in the straight and narrow path henceforth. The chief, he said, had made certain charges against some of them.

Ald. Van Hecke declared that if the chief admitted that some of these parties had not lived up to the law in the past, they could not be depended on in the future, and he wanted to vote no when their names were called.

Ald. Krems said he didn't think it was fair to oppose applicants on technicalities, rather they should be given a chance, and Ald. Schenk stated that the "city needs the money;" that if the police find there is anything wrong at any time, it is easy for them to enforce the law.

Ald. Hyer replied that the city does not need the money bad enough to grant a license to anyone who is not entitled to the same. Ald. Playman again spoke of the solemn promise of all saloonkeepers and applicants on the list, each one agreeing to try and do what is right.

The question of voting on each applicant separately was carried, Corlett, Hyer, King, Leahy, McDonald, Sparks and Van Hecke voting aye, and the voting was then commenced, each application being voted on by roll call, two being refused by a vote of 7 to 5. These were E. S. Norton, at Barney's Buffet, and L. J. Scharer, who has a bar in connection with the Soo hotel, both at the South Side. Those who voted no were Corlett, Hyer, King, Leahy, McDonald, Sparks and Van Hecke. The ayes were Firlus, Krems, Playman, Schenk and Urowski.

The application of Jos. Printz, for a license on North Second street was granted by a narrow margin, five voting no, Hyer, King, Leahy, Sparks and Van Hecke, while it required the vote of the mayor to decide the fate of Mary Skowronski, on S. Second street.

Corlett, Hyer, King, Leahy, Sparks and Van Hecke opposed her, and the votes of the other six, including McDonald, were in her favor, making a tie and Mayor Pasternacki said he would vote aye.

Hyer, Sparks and Van Hecke voted against Kutella & Cychoz, on Main street; Hyer, King, McDonald, Sparks and Van Hecke were opposed to granting a license to Lawrence Bannach; Hyer, Sparks and Van Hecke opposed Hoppe & Boyanowski and Van Hecke voted no on the applications of Jas. Lamb and Andrew Pascavis, Van Hecke declaring that Pascavis is an upright young fellow and he wanted to keep him straight. The brewers' licenses and the pharmacists' permits were granted upon motion, the previous rule being suspended.

The hall was well filled with spectators, including several members of the Laymen's association, and it was expected there would be "more doing," but in this there was a disappointment. The meeting adjourned to the 30th inst.

ARE HOLDING REUNION

Survivors of the Eighteenth Wisconsin Infantry Now Holding Annual Reunion at Plover.

There is a jolly gathering of veterans of the Civil war at Plover today, and they will also remain tomorrow, as the annual reunion of the 18th Wisconsin Infantry is now being held.

There are about forty survivors of this regiment still among the living, residents of Wisconsin, so far as known, seven of whom reside in Portage county, and it is expected that all of these who can possibly do so will attend the camp fires at G. A. R. hall in Plover this afternoon and evening.

The officers of this organization reside in Calumet county. Portage county was well represented in the 18th Infantry, its first colonel being Jas. S. Alban of Plover, who was mortally wounded at the battle of Shiloh and was succeeded by Gabe Bouck of Oshkosh, who passed away some ten or twelve years ago.

Other commissioners from this county were Gilbert L. Park, Andrew J. Welton, Jeremiah D. Rogers, William J. Kershaw, John Alexander, William Bremer, Luman N. Carpenter, George Walbridge, Joseph H. Baker and John Stumpf.

The Woman's Relief Corps of Plover are providing meals during the reunion and the doors of the homes in the village are thrown open to their full capacity, while others stop at the hotel and others will come to this city to remain over night. May the old boys live over the pleasant hours of their youth during these two days, and survive to meet again next year.

The crowd that went from here to Lake Emily Saturday to the Old Settlers' picnic report a most enjoyable time, although the weather was rather disagreeable. These annual gatherings of the pioneers are interesting and do us all much good to meet and talk over the old time days.

A very unusual and what might have been a fatal accident in human life, happened on the farm of A. E. Swenson last Saturday, when a new concrete silo 30 feet high gave way and fell to the ground in complete ruins, the workmen falling with it. The silo was about completed but as the weather has been unfavorable for drying and hardening the concrete, the lower part failed to bear up under the weight above. John Morrison of Chicago, who was superintending the work, and Dennis Parks, who is operating the Swenson farm, were on top of the silo and both were quite seriously hurt. Mr. Morrison fell into the pit and was buried in the soft concrete. He was nearly suffocated when rescued. Mr. Parks was badly bruised and will be unable to get around for a while. Both men consider themselves fortunate and are thankful that they escaped with their lives.

BIG STATE SCHOOL CLOSES

Alumni Association Meeting and Commencement Mark the Closing of the Most Successful Year in School's History.

The Stevens Point Normal has just closed the twentieth year of its history with the usual commencement week exercises, which were brought to a close with the meeting of the alumni and the commencement exercises. This year the program of events began with the Senior class play, which was presented on May 22nd, and closed with commencement on Thursday of last week.

The two events of chief interest were the meeting of the alumni and the commencement exercises. The former occurred on Wednesday evening of last week in the gymnasium, where about 200 of the alumni and friends sat down to an elaborate three course dinner.

Several members of the Junior class acted as waiters and did the task in fine style. After the banquet Myron C. Williams of the class of 1913, acting as toastmaster, gave a fine speech on the relations of each alumnus to his alma mater. He afterwards called on other members of the alumni, who responded fervently to subjects that were both interesting and pleasing to those present. Chas. Fulton, '13, gave some wholesome advice to the present class; Mrs. von der Sump, formerly Miss Lucile Davenport, spoke on "Bells;" Prof. Spindler spoke of the inspiration that came from the 1,395 graduates of the school and the fine work that they are doing all over the United States, as well as in our own state. President Sims spoke eloquently of the material and spiritual progress of the school, showing the interested alumni members how the school is fast coming abreast with its new slogan, that of becoming the "Growing Normal School of Central Wisconsin."

After the close of the banquet the alumni present gathered in the assembly room upstairs to enjoy some vaudeville stunts that were staged by R. B. Woodworth, Worth Dafoe, Alf Anderson, Ruth Hetzel and Madge Crandall, all of whom did splendidly and gave one of the finest short programs of its kind ever seen at the Normal.

After the plays were over the crowd repaired to the gymnasium and enjoyed an hour or so of dancing, music being furnished by the Normal orchestra.

The morning of Thursday brook beautifully, showing old Wisconsin at her best in spring, and it seemed that the occasion was especially arranged by the weather man to aid the annual commencement exercises that took place in the assembly hall at 10 a. m. The commencement address was delivered by Supt. Milton C. Potter of the Milwaukee city schools, who gave a very interesting and practical address to the class. He spoke of the essentials of life as being Laughter, Labor and Loyalty, and eloquently described the conditions that made character and success in this world.

After the close of Mr. Potter's address, President Sims presented the diplomas to the large class of graduates. About 98 received their diplomas either at this time or will receive them at the close of the present summer session. With the final handshaking and bidding goodbye the curtain went down on the last act of the year 1913-14 in the history of the Stevens Point Normal school.

The year's work has been remarkable in many respects, the encirclement being the largest in the school's history for any regular session. The new addition on the east end was started, the cottages and the $10,000 dormitory were secured and a $2,750 appropriation for an athletic field was obtained to advance the school greatly in material ways to keep pace with the rapid advance in enrollment and quality of work done in all of the departments.

BUENA VISTA.

Joe Heilbach spent Saturday, and Sunday in Stevens Point.

Nick Theis has purchased a new Oakland car from Frank Reader.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Adams attended the Old Settlers' picnic at Lake Emily Saturday.

Willie Loftis, who has been attending school in Stevens Point, is spending vacation with his parents in Lanark.

Michael Meagher of Green Bay spent last week with his brother, Rev. J. E. Meagher, and sister, Miss Agnes, in Lanark.

Miss Marie Patterson closed a successful term of school near Plover last Friday with a picnic. Miss Patterson will teach the Valley school in Lanark the coming year.

There will be a picnic at Lake Emily next Sunday for the benefit of St. James' Catholic church at Amherst. A cordial invitation is extended to all and a good time is assured.

Jack Smith and Mildred, Nell and Frank Smith and Marie Patterson autoed to Stevens Point Monday. Miss Smith and Miss Patterson remained to attend the summer school at the Normal.

A large crowd attended the barn dance at John Shidler's Friday evening. The atmosphere being rather cool and the hall being well ventilated, some of our young men were compelled to wear their mackinaws.

Misses Clara Russell, Estella, Helen, Rachel and May Burns, Olive Scribner, Laurette Springer, Alice Brady and Gertrude Patterson, who have been attending school in Stevens Point, are spending vacation at their homes in this district.

Picnic at Coddington.

NEWSPAPER MEN MEET

Short and Pleasant Quarterly Gathering Held at Grand Rapids Last Friday Afternoon.

There was a fair attendance of newspaper representatives at Grand Rapids last Friday, including several ladies, when the Central Wisconsin Newspaper Association held a district meeting. Members of the craft were present from nearly all the counties in the circuit, which includes Wood, Portage, Marathon, Clark, Lincoln, Langlade and Taylor, subject to making further arrangements. The members did not congregate until 2:30 in the afternoon, when W. A. Drumb of the Grand Rapids Iron Age called the meeting to order and introduced Mayor Cohen, who welcomed the guests with the following words:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Central Wisconsin Press Association: It gives me great pleasure to address such distinguished guests in our city. You gentlemen are representing the most of the biggest assets in this country, such as information, education and civilization. The free press is the greatest move for progress of our country. Good business men and good newspapers are a blessing to the community. The population of the city of Grand Rapids consists of about 7,000— all good citizens and lots of work for everybody

REBEL LEADER DENIES BREAK

Carranza Says Villa Will Head Attack on Zocalo.

REBEL GUNBOAT IS SUNK

American War Vessels Rescue Defeat ed Sailors of Constitutionalist Ship —Ten Killed and Ten Are Wounded in Engagement.

Washington, June 20.—Representative Kent of California told the president and Secretary Bryan he had telegraphic information from Mexico that Gen. Carranza was about to leave his headquarters and flee to Laredo, Tex. Mr. Kent did not give the name of his informant.

Saltillo, June 19, via Laredo, Tex., June 19.—General Villa's resignation as commander of the constitutionalist army of the central division has not been accepted and the threatened breach between Villa and General Carranza has been averted, says a statement issued from General Carranza's headquarters.

It was reiterated that representations of the strained relations between Villa and Carranza had been greatly exaggerated. Besides, it was said that Villa would go immediately to Zacatecas to direct the assault on that town set for today.

El Paso, Tex., June 19.—Villa's officials have possession of the offices formerly under control of Carranza appointees.

Lazaro de la Garza, Villa's commercial agent at Juarez, issued an invitation for the Spaniards of the Laguna district to return to their homes. They had been forced to leave Mexico by Villa's order, just after the taking of Torreon.

Niagara Falls, One., June 19.—When the mediation conference is reopened the South American diplomats will ask the American and Huerta delegates if they have additional names to offer for a list from which a provisional president of Mexico may be chosen. If the deadlock remains unbroken the A.B.C. mediators plan to suggest five or six names carefully selected and kept in reserve for such an emergency.

On Board U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, Mex., June 19 (By Wireless Via San Diego, June 19).—The constitutionalist gunboat Tampico was sunk by the federal gunboat Guerrero in 22 fathoms of water, leaving the Guerrero the sole surviving warship representing either faction on the west coast of Mexico. The battle began at 8:20 a. m. and lasted until noon.

The rebels lost ten killed and ten wounded; the federales none. In despair at the outcome, Captain Malpico and his chief engineer, after fighting with great bravery against heavy odds, committed suicide.

Vera Cruz, June 19.—British subjects who arrived from Mexico City reported a clash between President Huerta and Sir Lionel Carden, British minister. The dispute arose out of advice volunteered by Sir Lionel that the de facto president resign and leave the country immediately. Huerta was said to have threatened to arrest Sir Lionel if he ever repeated the proposal.

OFFICER PERILS AMBASSADOR.

Policeman at Champaign, Ill., Shoots at Auto Carrying Bernstorff.

Champaign, Ill., June 19.—Count Joachim von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, narrowly escaped death or serious injury when a special Champaign policeman fired point blank at an automobile conveying the diplomat to the University of Illinois, where Count Bernstorff delivered the commencement address. Count Bernstorff came to Champaign in the special car of Arthur Meeker, the Chicago packer. Escorted by Mr. Meeker, who is a trustee of the university, Dr. David Kinley, vice-president of the institution, and Dr. Ewarts Boutelle Green, the ambassador was being driven to the campus.

Mayor Robbins made a formal apology to Count Bernstorff and said Murphy's commission would be revoked.

INDICT LEO M. FRANK SLEUTH.

Charged With Subornation of Perjury by Atlanta Grand Jury.

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—C. W. Burke, a detective employed by attorneys for Leo M. Frank, was indicted on a charge of attempted subornation of perjury. Burke is accused of having attempted to persuade Nellie Ferguson, a witness against Frank in his trial for the murder of Mary O'Hagan, to change her testimony. Burke was released on bond.

ROOSEVELT ILL ON OCEAN LINER

Former President Confined to Suite on Imperator.

HAS TOUCH OF JUNGLE FEVER

British People Cheer Colonel As He Leaves for U. S.—Says He Won't Run for Governor of New York.

London, June 20.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, shortly after the Imperator sailed from Southampton, suffered a recurring touch of jungle fever, according to a wireless message from the liner. He had a chill and retired immediately to the Imperial suite, which had been assigned to him.

Southampton, England, June 20.—A warm farewell was given to Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who sailed for New York on the Imperator after a whirlwind visit of less than ten days in Europe.

Crowds cheered the former president in London, and there was a friendly demonstration on the streets here and on the pier when the colonel went on board the big Hamburg-American liner. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, O., and his cousin, Philip Roosevelt of New York.

Just before the liner sailed Colonel Roosevelt said that he would not be a candidate for governor of New York.

"I absolutely refuse to run for the governorship," he said.

Colonel Roosevelt was accompanied to Southampton by Arthur L. Lee, a Unionist member of parliament, who was the American statesman's host over the week end.

W. H. Page, the American ambassador, the members of the embassy staff, Lord Beresford and several other notable persons were at the railway station in London when the colonel left.

Before going aboard the boat train Colonel Roosevelt issued a brief statement thanking the British people for their kind treatment.

"I've had a bully good time," he added.

The colonel and Lord Beresford posed with clasped hands for the newspaper photographers.

Colonel Roosevelt looked in good health despite the throat weakness which will prevent him from taking an active part in the approaching political campaign in the United States. "If any one expected me to go into this campaign vigorously I cannot do so now," said Colonel Roosevelt, who had been warned by Sir Sinclair Thomson, the famous specialist, that his larynx would not stand any severe strain.

A slight huskiness is noted in the colonel's voice, but it becomes marked when he tries to speak loudly.

Mrs. Longworth only came to Southampton to bid her father good-by. After his departure she returned to London.

$2,500,000 FIRE IN GLASGOW.

Great Kingstown Docks Are Swept By Flames.

Glasgow, Scotland, June 20.—The greatest conflagration in the history of Glasgow swept the harbor front doing damage estimated at $2,500,000.

The fire broke out upon the great Kingstone docks on the banks of the Clyde and soon the enormous piers with their freight sheds and thousands of tons of freight were destroyed.

Half dozen ships, which were moored alongside of the docks, caught fire and several of them were burned to the water's edge.

Boston, June 19.—The East Boston water front was swept by fire. Lumber yards and mills, a power house, stables and smaller structures were destroyed. The roofs of many tenement houses caught fire and the tenants fled to the streets. The loss was $100,000.

3 AUTOISTS ARE DROWNED.

Woman and Two Men Perish When Car Falls Into Creek.

Butte, Mont., June 20.—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ralston of Ralston, Mont., and Clarence Trowbridge of Wisdom drowned as a result of an automobile accident near Ralston. Their machine had skidded into a creek, overturned and pinned the three beneath it in several feet of water.

Another Steamer on the Rocks.

London, June 19.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company states that the steamer Needles, bound for South America, has stranded high and dry near Birling gap. The heavy fog that has caused immense damage to shipping during the last 48 hours still lay over the British coast. Navigation was difficult at all ports.

The counties are required to duplicate the amount contributed by the state—$1,100,000.

TWENTY WORKERS ARE TAKEN OUT ALIVE FROM HILLCREST (ALTA.) COLLIERY.

300 FLEE AFTER EXPLOSION

Bodies of 23 Dead Miners Are Brought to Surface From Burning Shaft. Rescue Trains Arrive—182 Are Still Entombed.

Hillcrest, Alta., June 22.—Figures given out by the Canadian Pacific railroad show that 185 men are still in the burning Hillcrest mine. They are all believed to be doomed. Twenty men were rescued alive and 23 bodies were recovered.

An explosion occurred in the mine, which is one of a group on the Crow's Nest line, at 9:30 a. m. on Friday. Three hours later 23 bodies had been recovered from the underground workings. Twenty men were rescued alive.

Fifty of the men were still living, some horribly burned, others mangled by the force of the blast, all suffering from the effects of the poisonous gas.

At six o'clock two trains filled with expert mine workers, with doctors, nurses and officials of the railways, reached here. At once the gangs of rescuers were supplemented and the work of rescue went on with better results, aided by the latest scientific devices for saving life in mining disasters.

The explosion blew out both ends of the pit, and instantly blocked up the interior of the workings. Most of the men were working about four hundred feet inside the mine.

Carrying pulmeters and clad in special dress to protect the rescuers from noxious fumes, the rescuers made considerable progress and debris at the entrance was soon cleared away.

It will take a week to get at the bodies of all those entombed, and some may never be reached.

This is the third disaster which has befallen the inhabitants of Crow's Nest Pass. Four years ago 35 men were killed in Bellevue mine by gas, and ten years ago Frank mine was wiped out by the mountain toppling over.

According to the officials of the company 550 men went into the mine at 7 a. m.

At 9:30 a terrible explosion was heard and men came rushing out of the entrance by scores. The panic spread through other parts of the mine and in ten or fifteen minutes about three hundred had escaped.

Hillcrest mine is situated 193 miles west of Medicine Hat and is one of a group of mines which have been worked for the past ten or fifteen years.

Liege, Belgium, June 22.—Two hundred miners were entombed alive when fire broke out in the Vieillemairetayre colliery on Friday. The fire was caused by an explosion.

BANK LAW WAS VIOLATED?

Alleged That Officers of Chicago Institution Accepted Money When Bank Was Insolvent.

Chicago, June 22.—State's Attorney MacLay Hoyne appointed assistants on Friday to take charge of the criminal prosecution of former Senator William Lorimer, C. B. Munday and the other wreckers of the LaSalle Street Trust & Savings bank. Evidence adduced during a conference between the state's attorney and Attorney General P. J. Lucey indicated that deposits were received after Lorimer and Munday knew the bank was insolvent and were scrambling to save what they might from the wreck. Conviction under this charge carries a penalty of from one to three years in the penitentiary. W. C. Niblack, vice-president of the Chicago Title & Trust company, was appointed receiver of the bank, on the motion of the attorney general.

LINER ASHORE WITH 400.

Buelow Is Wrecked Off British Coast—Passengers Safe.

Portland, England, June 20.—During the thick fog which hung over the English channel the North German Lloyd liner Buelow, with between three hundred and fifty and four hundred persons on board, went ashore on the British coast near this point. The ship sent out a wireless call for help and assistance was sent.

In response to a wireless call a steamer was sent to take off the passengers of the Buelow.

Cowes, England, June 20.—The freighter Copsewood, owned by the Meteor company, put into port in badly damaged condition as the result of a collision in the English channel with a liner, believed to be one of the Hamburg-American line's ships.

Cowes, England, June 20.—The freighter Copsewood, owned by the Meteor company, put into port in badly damaged condition as the result of a collision in the English channel with a liner, believed to be one of the Hamburg-American line's ships.

A heavy fog covered the channel.

STEVENSON LEFT $100,000.

Two Daughters and Son Share Equally.

Bloomington, Ill., June 19.—The will of the late Adlai E. Stevenson, filed for probate, distributed an estate of $100,000 of which $50,000 was in personal property and $50,000 in real estate.

The will was written on January 14 last. There are but three heirs, his daughter, Letitia, in Chicago, his second daughter, wife of Rev. Martin Hardin, Chicago, and son, Lewis. Each child was left a store building in Bloomington; each received an equal amount of stock in the McLean County Coal mine, and each received an equal amount of bank stock.

Seen and Heard in Wisconsin

Madison.—The state suffrage school, directed by Mrs. Alice B. Curtis of Waukesha opened here.

Racine.—An unidentified man was killed by a passenger train on the Northwestern road at Perryville.

Blue River.—Al and Ed Anderson killed six rattlesnakes while building a bridge near here.

Madison.—The Castalian society of the university celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with a dinner. Margaret Godfrey was toastmistress.

Sheboygan.—Joseph Blust, School Hill, Manitowoc county, was killed when he was caught in a belt in a sawmill.

Granville.—Corn and tomato crops in the lowlands near here suffered severely as a result of the cold snap, when the mercury fell so low that ice formed in many places.

Madison.—F. Turbush of Milwaukee admitted casting an illegal ballot at the "wet" and "dry" election here and was fined $50 and costs. The "drys" consider this a great victory.

Appleton.—Miss Adele Ullman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ullman, became the bride of Edwin S. Goldstein. Mrs. Herman Riche of Milwaukee sang the wedding march.

Waukesha.—Charles Jones of Pequannock, a Republican, was elected chairman of the county board, with Charles Malsch of Lisbon as vice-chairman.

Portage.—Postmaster Robert Nash of Grand Rapids, who arrived here, will be married to Miss Nellie Grace Kerwin, daughter of Engineer W. J. Kerwin, at St. Mary's church.

Bessemer.—Louis Poertet was killed by a falling rock while on the tenth level of the Colby mine. Nick Cendriez was knocked in the head by a caving ore on the seventh level of the Avril mine and killed.

Sheboygan.—Just as he was leaving his work to go home for his tenth wedding anniversary, Jack Tepas, a telephone operator, slipped, fell 50 feet to the railway track and was killed.

Madison.—Police of Berlin have turned over to Governor McGovern nearly nine hundred dollars taken from Arthur Krumm, alleged embezzler from an express company, who has been brought back to Milwaukee.

Oconto.—George Parlament waived preliminary examination before Judge Donlevy and was bound over to the November term of court here. The $5,000 bail may be furnished. He is charged with assault and battery with intent to kill.

La Crosse.—At the opening of the convention of county clerks Howard Lee of Rock county criticized Senator Teasdale. He said La Crosse had always borne a good reputation until the vice investigation attempted to blacken it.

Milwaukee.—Charles W. Belden, aged thirty-seven, a former Waukesha boy, was killed in a wreck at San Bagdad, Cal., while en route from San Francisco to his father's home at Chicago. He leaves a wife and one son. The funeral will be held in this city.

Waukesha.—Beginning June 29, local merchants will start a cooperative delivery system. Charles Ham has been awarded the contract and will establish a distributing station and make three morning and two afternoon deliveries. A saving of 25 per cent is expected.

Madison.—William Cairns, a son of Prof. W. B. Cairns of the University of Wisconsin, was placed on probation for four years by Municipal Judge Fehlant, after he had pleaded guilty to passing 15 worthless checks. He realized about one hundred and fifty dollars on the papers and one of the conditions of the probation is that he make restitution.

Waukesha.—Waukesha county graduates at the state university this year are: Katherine L. Cronin, Byron L. Robinson, Herbert S. Pomroy, Elmer M. Borgeson, Oconomowoc; Marcus B. Hall, Ruth B. Lobdell, Mukwonago; Lucy J. Koehler, Menomonee Falls; Gilbert L. Lachler, Clarence C. Tolg, Waukesha; John A. Lane, Eagle, and Leonard B. Krueger, Muskego.

Superior.—The body of Miss Mary Nolan, drowned while canoeing at Billings park, was recovered with the aid of dynamite used on the bay in the vicinity of the spot at which she was believed to have sunk. The young woman's mother, Mrs. Margaret Nolan, a widow, is in critical condition and cannot be named.

Superior.—The body of Miss Mary Nolan, drowned while canoeing at Billings park, was recovered with the aid of dynamite used on the bay in the vicinity of the spot at which she was believed to have sunk. The young woman's mother, Mrs. Margaret Nolan, a widow, is in critical condition and cannot be named.

Trottman Again Heads Regents

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
BOARD RE-ELECTS ALL OF ITS OFFICERS.

APPOINTMENTS TO FACULTY

Illinois Man to Direct School of Music
—Dr. Edwin Baur of Berlin Gets the Carl Schurz Memorial Professorship.

Madison.—The university board of regents re-elected James F. Trottman, Milwaukee, president.

A. P. Nelson, Grantsburg, was re-elected vice-president; H. C. Bumpus, business manager, and M. E. McCaffrey, secretary.

The regents elected Dr. Edwin Baur, Berlin, Germany, to the Carl Schurz memorial professorship for 1914.

Charles M. Mills, director of the school of music at the University of Illinois, was appointed director of the Wisconsin school of Music. J. O. Rankin, editor of the Minnesota Agricultural college, was appointed assistant agricultural editor. Amy Daniels, University of Missouri, was appointed associate professor of home economics. Martin Mason, Brookline, Mass., was appointed mistress of Barnard hall.

John F. Klinka, Little Falls, Minn., was appointed county agricultural representative for Polk county. Paul F. Clark, Rockefeller Institute, New York, was appointed associate professor of bacteriology. Dr. M. P. Ravenel goes to the University of Missouri. Thomas A. Wilson, Princeton, '12, who last year coached at the University of North Carolina, was appointed assistant football coach.

P. J. Stearns was made assistant and field organizer in the Milwaukee district of the extension division. Clinton S. Childs, New York, was appointed chief organizer and inspector in the Milwaukee district. Reuben C. Engelke was appointed assistant field organizer for the Milwaukee district.

Eugenics Law Upheld.

The supreme court sustained the constitutionality of the eugenics marriage law, reversing the judgment of the Milwaukee county circuit court, which declared it invalid. Justices Marshall and Vinne dissented from the majority opinion.

Chief Justice Winslow wrote the opinion, which in part is as follows:

"Neither the legislative idea nor the legislative purpose in the passage of the present law can be a matter of serious doubt. The idea plainly was the transmission of disease by newly married men to their innocent wives, and the purpose just as plainly was to remedy that evil so far as possible by preventing the marriage of men who, upon examination, were found to possess such disease."

The opinion discussed at some length the so-called discriminatory features of the law and the chief justice further says:

"It follows that legislation directed against males alone for the purpose of preventing transmission of disease is clearly within the police power and just as clearly is not discriminatory."

"We prefer to construe the words 'recognized test' as intended to refer to the test recognized and used by the people who were to make them. We have not been able to appreciate the force of the contention that the law interferes in any respect with religious liberty. We know of no church which desires its ministers to profane the marriage ties by uniting a man afflicted with a loathsome disease to an innocent woman."

U. S. W. V. Encampment.

The fifteenth annual state encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans and annual state meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary was held in Eau Claire. Marinette was chosen for the 1915 encampment by a close vote. Officers elected were: Commander, Robert C. Burchard, Fort Atkinson; senior vice-commander, Carl A. Buchholz, Janesville; junior vice-commander, Charles G. Juneau, Milwaukee; department inspector, Ray Weaver, Beaver Dam; judge advocate, Fred Arnold, Eau Claire; department surgeon, T. W. Evans; department marshal, H. W. Keopf, Neillsville; department chaplain, Rev. William P. Christy, La Crosse.

Mid-West Debating League.

The Universities of Wisconsin and Illinois have withdrawn from the Central Debating league and have formed a new three-point association with Michigan as the third. This will be known as the Mid-West Debating league. The debates will be held in the spring instead of the fall.

Co-Operation in Wisconsin.

The university has issued a bulletin on agricultural co-operation, by B. H. Hibbard, telling of the methods used successfully by over fifteen hundred farmers' companies in Wisconsin. Of co-operative companies there are: Creamery, 347; cheese factory, 200; live stock shipping, 35; fruit exchange, 5; grain elevator, 40; telephone, 609; insurance, 200. The bulletin details the several factors necessary for success in such movements and closes with explanation of the steps necessary for organization.

Grants 830 Degrees.

The University of Wisconsin granted at the commencement exercises a total of 830 degrees and 62 certificates. Of the degrees, 361 were granted in the college of letters and science, 103 in the college of engineering, 105 in the college of agriculture, 28 in the law school and 233 were higher degrees in the graduate school.

Of the lower degrees 254 were B. A. granted in the course in letters and science, 50 B. A. in the commerce school, seven B. A. in the journalism course, 17 Ph. B., nine bachelor of science degrees in the chemistry course, one B. S. in geology, 16 B. S. in the medical course and five in the pharmacy course. Of the bachelor of science degrees in the engineering college 23 were to civil engineers, six to chemical engineers, 30 to electrical engineers, 23 to mechanical engineers and three to mineral engineers. In advanced courses in the engineering school six degrees were granted to civil engineers, two to chemicals, six to electricals, three to mechanicals and two to engineers of mines.

Of the agricultural degrees 81 were in the four-year course in agriculture and 24 were in the course in home economics.

In addition to these, 12 certificates were granted to graduates of the two-year course in farming. One certificate was granted to a graduate in music and 12 to graduates of the music supervisors' course. Thirty certificates were given to grads of the Wisconsin library school and seven to graduates of the two-year course in pharmacy.

Of the higher degrees 70 were M. A., one master of philosophy, 40 master of science, eight civil engineers, nine electrical engineers, two mechanical engineers, one engineer of mines and 21 Ph. D's.

Eagles in Convention.

The eleventh annual state convention of the Order of Eagles was opened Monday in Antigo by State President W. H. Armstrong. Mayor Steffen welcomed the visitors and Judge J. F. Karel of Milwaukee gave an address. A parade, Indian dances, banquets and ritual contests were on the program.

To Attend National Convention.

The following representatives and alternates were elected to the national encampment, which will meet in Detroit the last week in August:

Representatives from the state at large, David Orain, Racine; alternate, Rockwell J. Flint, Menomonie; First congressional district, representative, S. M. Bard, Milton; alternate, J. P. Phillips, Waukesha; Second, representative, Henry Stannard, Greenbush; alternate, Irving Underhill, Plymouth; Third, representative, A. J. Burnham, Richland Center; alternate, Charles Wannamaker, Platteville; Fourth, representative, Louis Barbe, Milwaukee; alternate, W. H. Simpson, Milwaukee; Fifth, representative, A. Hazelwood, Oconomowoc; alternate, A. L. Rosencranz, Milwaukee; Sixth, representative, J. W. Baldock, Chilton; alternate, Charles Gowan, Ripon; Seventh, representative, William H. Blyth, Sparta; alternate, William Thompson, New Lisbon; Eighth, representative, J. W. Evans, Waupaca; alternate, H. H. Hoffman, Amherst Junction; Ninth, representative, William Handyside, Depere; alternate, Dennis Meidan, Appleton; Tenth, representative, John M. Bottsford, Altona; alternate, B. Burke, Hudson; Eleventh, representative, W. A. Kent, Barron; alternate, Edward Bassell, Rice Lake.

Will Meet in Capital City.

Leading figures in the world-wide Christian Endeavor movement will be seen at the state convention of the organization, to be held in Madison June 25-28.

The list of speakers is headed by Dr. Francis E. Clark, Boston, the founder and president of the united society. Others will be Daniel A. Poling, superintendent of the good citizenship department of Boston; Rev. John Pollock, D. D., Belfast, Ireland, president of the European Christian union; Rev. Norman B. Barr, Chicago; Mildred Haggard, Minneapolis; E. P. Gates, Chicago; C. E. McBurney, Chicago; Rev. Daniel Evans Jones, Prof. W. A. Garfield, Carroll college, Waukesha; Rev. Mark Wayne Williams, Milwaukee. The state president, Rev. D. J. Williams, Oshkosh, says the attendance will be double that of any other state session. The delegates will be entertained in homes.

Governor's Campaign Expenses.

Governor McGovern filed with Secretary of State Donnell his first expense account as candidate for United States senator, showing an expenditure of $46.49 for political purposes. Of this $8.90 is for printing nomination papers and the balance for postage and stationery. Governor McGovern certifies also to a contribution of $48 to his personal campaign fund by his brother, Dr. P. H. McGovern.

Guard Officers Drilled.

Officers and non-commissioned officers of the Wisconsin National Guard are at Camp Douglas for a week of drill under army officers. For the first time the officers' school is attended by non-commissioned officers and with most of the state's troops represented the camp is a large one. The officers are formed into four companies, a provisional battalion.

In July the entire state guard will gather at Camp Douglas to form a brigade under command of Adj't Gen. Orlando Halloway.

EXTENSIVE EPIDEMIC OF HOG CHOLERA

A Healthy Bunch of Hogs.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The country is passing through the third serious epidemic of hog cholera of the past 30 years, according to the department of agriculture. The first period reached its climax in 1886 to 1887, when the loss amounted to about 134 per 1,000 head in one year. The second outbreak developed in 1894, and reached its climax in 1896 to 1897, when losses amounted to 144 per 1,000 head. The present extensive epidemic of hog cholera began to be serious in 1911, during the ten prior years the loss of swine ranged from 45 to 58 per 1,000 per year; in 1911 it jumped to 89, then to 110 in 1912, and to 119 last year, about 90 per cent of which may be attributed to cholera. It has thoroughly ravaged the heart of the hog-producing belt during the year just past. In the state of Iowa alone, losses amounted to nearly 1,800,000 swine, over a fourth of the entire number in the state. In many counties over half were lost, and in some townships over nine-tenths.

The losses of swine from disease are estimated by the department at 119 to every 1,000 hogs in the country, which exceeds last year's heavy loss of 110 per 1,000, and the average yearly loss in the preceding ten years of 54.9 per 1,000. Probably more than 90 per cent of the loss was from cholera. The percentage of loss applied to the estimated number of hogs on January 1 indicates a total loss of 7,005,000 head, which, at $10.40, the value per head on January 1, indicates a loss of $73,000,000. The average weight of a hog on the farm is about 150 pounds, therefore more than one billion pounds of hog meat were destroyed by disease, mostly cholera.

OBSTIPATION IN THE HORSE

Many Thousands of Dollars Lost to Farmers From Cause That Might Be Easily Prevented.

By GEORGE H. GLOVER, Colorado Agricultural College.

Judging by the number of cases of fatal obstruction to the bowels in horses that come to the notice of the veterinarians of the Colorado Agricultural college, there must be many thousands of dollars lost to farmers every year from this cause. And this is a condition that might easily be prevented.

In the winter time the roughage is dry and succulence must be provided. A horse with good teeth and fed alfalfa, timothy, bluestem, or other well-cured hays, combined with grain and plenty of water, will seldom be affected with impacted intestines, but a ration of straw, or bleached alfalfa stems picked up in the fields, combined with a low vitality, cold, poor teeth, and only snow or otherwise a limited amount of water, will furnish conditions which make fatal obstruction of the bowels possible.

The poorer the feed the more an animal must eat, and a ration of straw or poor quality of hay, does not furnish sufficient nutriment to make it possible for a horse to eat enough to support life. He eats inordinate quantities of this highly indigestible food which produces distention, atony and finally paralysis of the bowels.

Most of these cases cannot be treated successfully but prevention is easy. After all, it does not pay to keep animals unless one knows how and is willing to care for them from the day they are born.

EYESORE ON ORCHARD TREES

Silken Webs Filled With Caterpillars Should Be Cut Out and Burned With Kerosene.

(By E. VAN BENTHUYSEN.)

There is no greater eyesore in country surroundings than the silken webs filled with dark-colored, white-haired caterpillars which abound on the trees of orchard and lawn.

Those should not be confounded with the tent caterpillar, which abounds in early summer. They are the larvae of a moth which flies at night, and varies in color from pure white to white thickly studded with brown spots.

The moths emerge in May or June from pupae which have passed the winter under loose soil and rubbish at the foot of the tree.

The eggs are placed in clusters near the tips of the branches. On hatching, the process of web-building and eating begins, and soon a large cluster may be formed.

Cut the nests and burn with kerosene, or spray with arsenites, using sufficient force to penetrate the web.

Boosting Dairy Business.

The dairyman should grow as many acres of alfalfa as he raises acres of corn for his silo, and boost this dairy business above drudgery by having a system that will bring things around on time.

NOT UP TO DATE

Inquisitive Person—What are the wedding anniversaries?

Society Actress (somewhat annoyed)—How absurdly out of date you are! You should let such trivial matters rest and join me in making up a set of divorce anniversaries.

AN ECONOMIC HOPE

Brownson—And you want your wife to vote?

Woodson—Yes; Marie has promised that as soon as she gets into politics she'll introduce legislation to make millinery less expensive.

THEN HE WENT

Mr. Bore—I never flatter.

Miss Caustique—But you said one nice thing earlier in the evening.

Mr. Bore—What was that?

Miss Caustique—That you didn't have long to stay.

THE VERY REASON

New Elevator Boy—I'm suspicious of that old man. Whenever he comes in the bank he sneaks in as if he was afraid somebody would see him.

The Janitor—He is. That's the president of the bank.

SURE THING

The Preacher—My friend, a soft answer often turns away wrath.

The Politician—Maybe, but there's more satisfaction in calling a man a liar.

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio—“My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise.” —Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 7305 Madison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—“I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound.” —Mrs. ADA WILT, 196 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A PUZZLER

An American woman made the ascent of Vesuvius recently with a small party which included Mrs. Cook, widow of the famous tourist manager. The display within the crater was unusually fine, which the American at dinner smilingly attributed to the presence of Mrs. Cook. After several moments of silence, two Englishmen exclaimed in one breath, “But how could they manage that?” —Youth's Companion.

New Elaborate Sashes of Ribbon

THREE very unusual and beautiful sashes, made of messaline ribbon, are pictured here. Considering the prominence of girdles and sashes and the great amount of attention given to the management of the waistline these will interest every woman who knows how much accessories add to the toilette. Quite a plain white dress of simple design, and even of ordinary material, is lifted into the sphere of elegance by the pretty ribbon garnitures designed by those who manipulate ribbons.

From five to eight or ten yards of ribbon are needed for any one of the sashes shown in the group pictured here.

In the first figure a new rosette is made by grouping seven short-looped bows together. The girdle about the waistline is plain and slightly crushed.

The group of loops is finished with a long loop and two pointed ends. This

All at a Garden Party

THE flowery and diaphanous hats pictured here have counterparts in equally flowery but more substantial headwear in Leghorn and hemp, and in similar airy creations of hair braid and Tuscan lace braid. Then, for the warmest weather, there are pure white hats, net and chiffon or lace. In the same coterie are some lingerie hats. But hats of black maline or lace and Leghorn appear to make the strongest appeal as the midsummer's loveliest creations.

These fragile-looking, but really quite durable pieces of millinery, are made of the flimsiest of materials, maline net, which has been waterproofed, and thereby has conquered its old enemy, the moisture in the air. Even rain does not cause it to wither and shrivel, as in days of old. It is to be hoped that flowers which do not collapse when the dews of evening fall or the sea breathes on them will bloom in millinery gardens before another spring rolls round. Many of them now are dyed to withstand the sun, and sold as "fadeless."

The hats shown here of maline and lace, and those similar to them of hair or Tuscan braid, have the peculiarity of suiting themselves to either young or older women. But they appear to best advantage on the matron. When youth assumes the dignity of a black dress hat, big, picturesque shapes provide an element these smaller hats lack. But they are helped out this season by the masses of flowers that adorn them and by the youthful bridles of velvet ribbon that are brought from one side to the other, under the chin or under the hair.

Silk and Bead Tassels. Tassels are made of silk and beads, and they are used in many ways. They catch up the draperies of skirts and finish sash ends; small tassels ornament the ends of the necklaces of beads and appear on jackets and frocks in lieu of buttons.

Professional Courtesy. Two Texas doctors met on the street.

"I feel sorry for you. You ought not to be out in this kind of weather. You are a sick man," said Dr. Blister.

"I am not feeling very well," replied Dr. Soonover.

"What doctor is treating you?"

"I am prescribing for myself."

"You shouldn't do that. You are liable to be arrested for attempted suicide."

HOW TO TREAT PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mottled and other unwholesome conditions of the skin.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Business Is on Its Way Out Again.

Speaking of the business outlook the Manufacturers' Record says that a group of New York men had gathered in a rather mournful spirit, and as they discussed the business outlook, which seemed to them to grow darker and darker, one wit in the party, turning to a staid, much perturbed financier, said:

"Mr. Blank, can you tell me how far a dog can run into the woods?"

Mr. Blank, somewhat irritated at such a trivial remark at a time of serious discussion, rather tartly replied that he supposed a dog could run into the woods just as far as he wanted to."

"No," said the questioner, "when he has run half-way into the woods he is then running out of the woods."

Confidential.

The dull routine of the day in the bank was one day lightened by the receipt of the following communica-

"Dear Bank. What interest would you give on a Deposit of 15 dollars? Please to answer back as be sure to say what interest per annum as if he can draw it out. Yours with respect."

Some Bootless Remarks.

The whole-souled fellow is not half so likely to go on his uppers as the half-souled ones. The former is usually better heeled and doesn't peg out and leave a fellow in the lurch when he finds it necessary to revamp his fortunes after business affairs have run counter to his desires.

Where He Came In.

Grace was a country girl, whose parents sent her to the city to attend college. When the holidays came around and she came home, her mother gave a reception in her honor.

Some of the girl friends asked Grace to show them her new gown.

Obliquely she brought out several modish gowns, and holding up a particularly pretty one of silk, she said:

"Isn't this one perfectly beautiful? And just think, it came from a poor, little insignificant worm!"

Her hard-working father was seated near, watching the performance, and he replied:

"Yes, darn it and I'm that worm!"

Worst Yet to Come.

"I hate to leave the old place," remarked Adam as he turned from the Garden to Eden. "Leaving isn't the worst of it," replied Eve. "Think of the trouble you're going to have when you get to telling of the animals and rivers in this place to the explorers and geographical experts over yonder."—Washington Star.
